Doing Business With The Government can help small businesses increase revenues and create jobs through government contracting opportunities and financing.

“After Attending “Doing Business with the Government” workshops and learning about opportunities, we are now in negotiations for two substantial contracts that will create jobs for San Diegans.” – Sungro

The U.S. Government is the largest consumer of products and services in the world. They purchase professional consulting and contracting services, equipment, food, office & cleaning supplies, temporary staffing, promotional products, and more.

Attendees will find out from procurement and finance experts how to do business with the government and what finance options are available through the SBA, traditional and non-traditional lending organizations.
